JUDGES COMMENTS:

The AOV, Ashdene Meadowsweet, topped the line-up with a superb AM yield of 4.90kgs carried extremely well in a supple, well attached udder with good teats. A large, long, milky goat that just flows under your hand. Reserve was her stable mate, the Anglo Nubian 1st kidder Ashdene Almond with an AM yield of 3.40kgs. I thought her marvellous, full of breed type with an extremely well attached udder which has a good floor when full; just needs to finish changing her coat. Two lovely AOV goatlings from the same herd, I took ages to split them in their class, in the end it was just "nit picking" and Wedgewood Taichi triumphed! Both are extremely well grown, deep-bodied goats on sound legs and feet. It was really too early to assess the kids but my eye was taken by a young Toggenburg, Topgold Fuschia, of good type and clean whites.
