Judges Comments:

A disappointingly low entry for such a top-quality agricultural show, but the quality of the goats at the top of the line did not disappoint. Ashdene and Anjo herds to the fore across the milker and goatling classes, taking the top five places in the IP line up between them. Ashdene Candyfloss was an easy choice for best in show. Very feminine with a well attached udder - I look forward to seeing how she matures over the year. My reserve, Ashdene Meadowquail, carries her milk in a very neat udder that is superbly attached. She has depth and bone and shows much promise. In the goatling classes, the Anglo-Nubian, Ashdene Allspice, has length, style and size. The British Toggenburg, Anjo Cylva, was my choice for reserve. She is a very well-proportioned goat with a very neat head, neck and shoulders and a strong back end. In the kid class, I selected the British Alpine, Monach Blackberry as my best kid – a well grown and presented kid with very clear black and white colouring. Great to see an enthusiastic class of young handlers also. Thanks to the stewards and other helpers who made the show run smoothly on the day.
